at Trinity

Summer vacation days are gone, school has begun and the halls are once again full of the sounds of school children. Growing up in rural Nebraska, this is the time of the year when communities would come together for "Fall Festivals". High School marching bands would often have their first outing of the year marching down the main street of a small town. My favorite was the Wellfleet Fall Festival. The parade started at the Lutheran Church on the south side of town and stopped just short of the Catholic Church on the north side of town. (It was slightly up hill at that point and no place to turn around and disperse if you went all the way to the Catholic Church.) The entire parade route was probably less than half a mile, but it seemed much more when you marched in streets of sand that were ankle deep! Along that half mile, there were three more churches in a town with a population of 70. Everybody knew everybody. There were ball games in the park, an amateur talent show in the Community Hall, roping and riding events at the arena and music playing at the Bandstand. The volunteer firemen would open the firehouse and proudly show off their fire trucks to everyone who walked by. The Methodist Church ladies all made pies to sell and the Congregational Church ladies displayed their quilts. It was a picture just waiting for Norman Rockwell to paint.

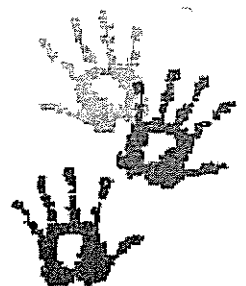

Thinking about it now, looking at the quilt displays was one of my favorite things of the day, well except for homemade peach pie. I was intrigued with the varied colors and patterns and how a piece of fabric from an old dress or shirt was transformed into something new, something beautiful, and useful. I am in awe of the wonderful things God does all around us by transforming the old and making it new, beautiful and useful. We were all made new through baptism, but I must admit, that there are days I don't feel new, I just feel old. Always watching over me, God sends His Holy Spirit to renew me again, everyday if need be, by reminding me of His love for me. He has provided the Lord's Supper, so that I might renew my spirit and be His instrument.

God's handiwork is all around us, even here at Trinity. Seventy years in the making, God continues to "renew" Trinity. It is by God's grace that the school is not only open, but growing. It is not my place to tell God how much I think it needs to grow, but rather my place to serve Him with a "renewed" spirit. With His infinite wisdom and understanding, God has called His servants from New York, Minnesota, West Virginia, Georgia, Michigan, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado and even Texas to be a part of His handiwork here at Trinity. I am again intrigued to see the finished project. With God as the Designer, it will be a masterpiece.

Please mark your calendar, make the effort, even if it is not convenient, and lend your voices of praise and adoration to our Lord and Savior in thanksgiving for 70 years of Christian Education at Trinity Lutheran School on Sunday, September 18th as we gather in the school gymnasium at 9:00 am for a combined Sunday Worship Service. Come admire His handiwork.

May God continue to shower Trinity with His Love and blessings as we begin the next 70 years!

Whew! Where did the summer go?! The NEW Preschool/Childcare Team is so excited to begin the fall session at Trinity Lutheran. We are blessed with a great team of teachers this year, who strive to create a welcoming environment for the preschool families and support children as they live out the people God intended them to be. When the teachers are not preparing for our 41 new students by stocking the classrooms with thrilling learning opportunities to help grow the whole child, they have been making "home visits" to meet students and their families in the familiarity of their own homes. What a wonderful opportunity to pray for the families that walk through our doors each morning.

It has been a summer of growing for me, taking the BIG step to the position of Director has brought with it both challenges and rewards. Working everyday with the Summer Camp while interviewing and selecting staff that will compliment our mission and maintaining an acceptable family life has been challenging. Seeing the blessings that God showers on us through the ones He sends to meet our needs are high on the list of rewards.

Our new Lead teacher for our second Preschool room is Mary Schultz. Synodically-trained and wife to LCMS Pastor Greg Schultz, Mary has many years of experience working with children and their families. Mary will use her experience to design the daily "Jesus Time" for the preschoolers. We also have a new afternoon Childcare lead teacher, Shauna Yanke-Hofmann. She has worked with all ages of children and is an inter-active teacher, keeping them engaged throughout the afternoon. Returning as teacher aides are Chelsea Lambert, a graduate of Trinity Lutheran School, Susonna Klein, and Elodia Espinosa. They will assist the morning lead teachers. We welcome Kristina Thompson, mother of a preschooler and a 2nd grader at Trinity and two younger boys at home, as the teacher aide for the afternoon.

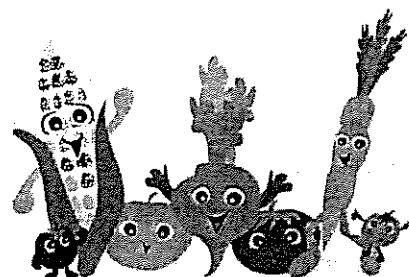

Under Qualistar, a program that rates preschools in Colorado, we continue to work with our mentor from United Way to increase our number of stars. We are on track to complete the necessary requirements to receive our third star in the fall. Through United Way we received three grants that have enabled us to acquire exciting new learning tools for both preschool rooms.

We are so appreciative of all the support you give the Preschool Program. If you were able to attend the "Back to School" night on August 16th, you saw first hand the multitude of excited children and families to be a part of our program. Thank you for the gift cards that help us with the day to day things that keep us going.

We welcome your continued prayers throughout the year. If you are cleaning out closets, we can always use more crib sheets for our sleeping cots and small hats and mittens for children to use when they forget theirs at home. Fresh fruits and vegetables are always a welcome treat.

*Blessings,
Katie Grove*

From the Desk of the President

Thank you all so much for your responses to our last questionnaire on Sunday, July 31. It looks like a majority of you liked the summer schedule (the 9:00 am combined service). The Elders have taken it up and will let you know what the plans are for next year. We all appreciate those of you who took the time to tell us what you think about our services and our worship, it really does help with our planning.

What a wonderful turnout we had for the 2nd Annual Pickers Paradise. This garage sale fundraiser has grown so much in just one year. Thank you to Laura Reiter and JoLynn Baral and their amazing volunteers. Mark your calendar for next year...the first Saturday of August. You don't have to sell anything, you can just come for the food (pork shop on a stick and homemade baked goods) and the fellowship and fun!

Please thank Kristi Sanderson, Peggy Peters, Les Durdy, Virtus Einspahr, Oren Nero, Vicki Akin and others for making the front of our church look better and better each month. Next month we hope to be planting evergreen and rose bushes along the front of the church. Please come and help on September 10!

We have some great plans for the School's 70th Anniversary celebration. I hope you can all join us for this special event. It is a celebration of your support of the mission of providing a Christian education for children. If you are an alumni of Trinity Lutheran School please let us know. If you know someone who is, be sure to invite them!

A big Thank You to our custodian, Angela Horton, her husband Steve and their family for making the school so clean and neat and ready for the kids!

I have really enjoyed getting to know all the wonderful people in our Men and Women's small group that meets on the 2nd and 4th Wednesdays of each month. The food, fellowship and Bible study are so welcoming, and watching all the young kids play and grow up with such a loving group of adults is a picture of God at work among us.

STRENGTH IN TRIALS

*Submitted by Larry Whitney
Pastoral Assistant*

In this you rejoice, though now for a little while, if necessary, you have been grieved by various trials, so that the tested genuineness of your faith – more precious than gold that perishes though it is tested by fire – may be found to result in praise and glory and honor at the revelation of Jesus Christ. (1 Peter 1:6, 7)

When things are not going quite right, a bit of advice frequently handed out is to keep a stiff upper lip. The advice suggests that there are certain difficulties you can expect in life, and the only way to cope with them is to grit your teeth and make the best of it.

The Christian has a different view of life's difficulties. First of all, he understands their origin. They result from sin. All problems, all suffering, all sorrows, all difficulties, all misery, all frustrations have a common origin. They result from sin. Sin has contaminated the whole human race, and the believer also suffers from that contamination.

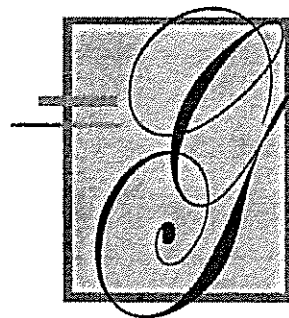

In addition, the Christian has another view of the difficulties he encounters in life. He knows that they are under God's control and that they are intended for his good. Granted, there are times when this is extremely hard to understand and accept. Yet the Bible stresses this again and again. God sends corrective measures into our lives, just as parents do with their children. Peter wrote to his readers that the trials which they were encountering had come "so that your faith . . . may be proved genuine and result in praise, glory and honor when Jesus Christ is revealed."

God's love for us is so great that he wants nothing to lure us from living and abiding in his saving grace. It is our trials in life, our problems, our tribulations which keep us from becoming too wrapped up in worldly affairs. If everything went along smoothly in life, if every day brought nothing but joy and pleasure, if every week and every month were nothing but one big pleasure trip, we would face the grave danger of becoming very attached to this world.

But we are strangers on this earth. Heaven is our home. The trials of life remind us of this. With the strength God provides, we can endure these trials. The resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead is God's assurance that He will give us that strength. This is a very important part of our living Easter hope. How rich we are that God strengthens us in all the trials of life!

O Lord, grant us strength as we encounter the trials and difficulties of life. Help us realize that they serve our good and will continue only for a short season until we live with You in heaven. Amen.

Here's my story. I went to Trinity Lutheran School for 8 years.

Ann Troester Chantler
Daughter of Virgil and Iris Troester

JOURNEY OF Faith

They say there are hidden blessings in cancer. I could not believe that statement could possibly be true when I started my journey.

I went to my Nurse Practitioner for my annual physical and scheduled a routine mammogram. As I left my breast diagnostic center the technician told me either I would get a call or a letter in the mail. I waved and said I would look forward to my annual letter. My doctor called on Sept 30th to say my biopsy was positive, I had breast cancer. We both cried on the phone together. I didn't know what I was in for; I thought we would take out the lump and call it good. Unfortunately my journey was not so easy and not so fast. My daughter was still healing from a brain aneurysm and I wanted to be strong for her. I also did not want to tell people and have them feel sorry for me; I was the one to help others. To receive help was a new concept for me and honestly I was not comfortable with it. The blessings started from the most unusual places. People called to offer help. I didn't know what I needed. How could I possibly ask for help? Some wise person told me, put yourself in their position, you would want to help. The help came in ways I never expected.

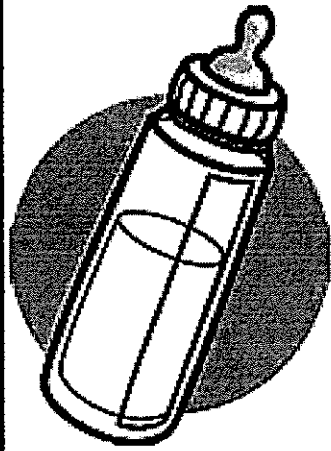

I work in an alternative high school and telling my staff and students was hard, but they all stepped up and the support was amazing. The staff threw me a "Farewell Lumpy Party" and supported me with an annual Thanksgiving Turkey Trot and a video that would make a grown man cry. I thought I had chemo handled, the side effects and working seemed to be ok but in January my husband died. Planning a funeral and handling two totaled cars while in chemo didn't break me, it made me stronger with God's help. Actually my friends and family held me up and gave me the strength I needed to keep going. I met beautiful people with smiles on their faces and encouraging words when I least expected it but needed it most.

I am blessed to have a family that truly loves each other. I have daughters who would do anything for me, a sister who is there in every way possible and grandchildren who make my life happy every day. My friends are tremendous, really, really good caring people. One day I found myself just crying not because I felt sorry for myself or overwhelmed with sadness, but overwhelmed with gratitude and love. I couldn't believe all my friends cared so much. One of my good friends took me to every chemo treatment. The day after I lost my husband I had a chemo treatment, all 8 nurses in the infusion department came to me and gave me a hug.

After 5 months of chemo and 37 radiation treatments I am truly on my way to a new life. So much has changed in my life but I am blessed each day with love. I have met people who have changed my life and now more than ever cherish the family and friends who have been by my side. God has given me so many blessings and I have found strength in his loving arms.

THE BABY BOTTLE CAMPAIGN TOTALS -

Trinity Lutheran raised $1728.00 for this year's annual baby bottle campaign. This year's campaign brought in a total of $90,7776.84, the most successful year yet! Thanks to you, through God's grace, this amount will cover expenses at the center for nearly 3 months. So far this year the center has had:

12 Passover babies saved from abortion

21 Salvations for Christ

27 people make abstinence commitments

And the center has touched over 1000 lives!

Your support helps the Pregnancy Center rescue the defenseless and serve the hurting. Thank you Trinity for your generous

Do YOU have 2 hours a week that you could give to God?

God has generously answered our prayers for young families and now there is an increasing number of small children ready for Sunday School! With only 4 teachers and a couple of substitutes, the Sunday School program must add more teachers to meet the growing demand! Could you be one of the teachers needed?

Sunday School Curriculum from Concordia is provided. It takes about an hour one evening a week to go over the details of the lesson to be prepared. Concordia even provides great suggestions on making the lessons creative and fun. Sunday mornings, the Sunday School classes meet for approximately an hour, when you can experience the JOY of teaching Bible lessons to these precious little children that God has sent to us.

Please prayerfully consider joining the Sunday School Teacher Team!
