EASTER LOVE OFFERING

It's not too late to use your Easter Love Offering envelope from your giving envelope box. These envelopes are an additional offering of thanksgiving during this time of remembrance when God sent His Son to die on the cross as the ultimate sacrifice.

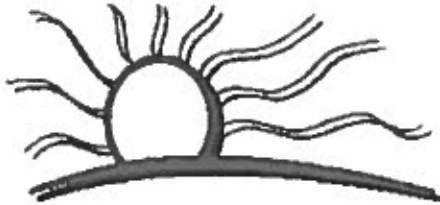

Each year, the LWML chooses a project to direct these offerings towards. Last year, they used the funds to cover the cost of the double-paned windows that protect the new stained glass windows. This year, 10% will go to the Orphan Grain Train Mission and the remaining 90% will go towards reconditioning the pews in our sanctuary. This is a BIG project and the estimate to do all the pews is between $25,000 to $30,000, depending on any increases in the cost of materials between now and the time the money is raised and the project started.

Prayerfully consider giving to this worthwhile project. Place your contribution in the "Easter Love Offering" envelope and drop it in the offering plate on Sunday morning, anytime between now and Easter Sunday.

SAVE STAMPS FOR MISSIONS -Many thanks to those who are saving canceled postage stamps. All stamps are used and sold to stamp collectors. The money is used for LWML mission projects. The stamps need at least 1/4 inch of the envelope left around it-cut or torn. Stamps that bring in more money are those from other countries -write to your missionaries! Most will answer back. If the postmark is different, that brings in more money. You may save stamps at home until Christmas or give them to Margie Allmann or leave them in Pastor Allmann's mailbox above the coat rack in church. People have told me that they don't get many stamps. If 10 people save 3 or 4 stamps, that adds up to 30 or 40 stamps. Let us keep those Texas ladies busy!

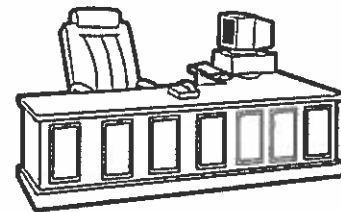

Thank you.

Margie Allmann

A Note from the Editor: Recent events have led me down the path of memories of places I have lived. I left the farm that had been home for some 18 years, when I married an enlisted Air Force serviceman. Stationed in England, we lived in civilian rental homes while waiting for base housing to become available. It was a long waiting list, so we moved often in an effort to find more affordable housing that was closer to the base. The Air Force base was our lifeline to all things American from groceries to movies to clothes. One of our stops was a renovated estate home. If you have ever watched Downton Abbey, you know that many wealthy English Lords could not afford to keep and maintain their family estates after WWI and were forced to sell their country homes. Such was the case of this particular property. The large country estate house was renovated into multiple one and two bedroom apartments for servicemen. Although it was long past its glory days, I would discover it had one of the most enchanting backyards I have ever seen. Living in the renovated manor house was tight quarters, but our home was not in the main manor house, rather in the renovated horse stables. It was made up of three paddocks with one door in the front and one window in the living space. Entering the front door into the kitchen/dining area, the bedroom was in the paddock to the left and the parlor to the right. The walls were made of concrete so when a space heater was used to warm up the space, water ran down the walls like sweat. It was dark and dreary. I often spent more time outside than in, weather permitting. About this time of the year, in spring, I discovered the wooded area that surrounded our stable home, my backyard, was full of wild daffodils, jonquils, and crocus. To see this wooded area that had gone uncared for, for decades, with its dead and broken limbs transformed with a blanket of yellow, white and purple was truly one of those unexpected gifts from God. I am reminded that no matter how dark, dreary, broken or uncared for I feel, God is there. He sent His Son, Jesus Christ, to die on the cross that I might be clothed in righteousness. May you seek God's hand at work in your life and hear His voice as He calls you by name. "Consider how the lilies grow. They do not labor or spin. Yet I tell you, not even Solomon in all his splendor was dressed like one of these." Luke 12:27

From the Desk of our President

Dear Trinity Family,

As I write this on the first day of spring, I am thinking about what the signs of spring are at Trinity Lutheran. We are continuing our Lenten services and preparing for the Holy Week services. We are getting the palms ready for Palm Sunday. The choir, the instrumental group and the kids are all rehearsing for Easter services. The kids at school are enjoying the sunshine and warmer (slightly) days to play outside.

Another sign of Spring is that our wonderful volunteers who serve on the Boards are gearing up to prepare the budget for our fiscal year 2018-2019. This budget will be presented to you by the Finance Board for approval at the Voters Meeting which will probably be at the end of May. Thank you to all for your hard work!

As some of you know I just returned from a trip to Israel and Jordan. It was an amazing trip! Someone asked me what the highlight of the trip was, I could not say just one thing or place stood out. To walk where Jesus and His disciples walked, and in Jordan to be able to stand where Moses stood to look at the Promised Land will be a special memory for me.

I hope you all are finding your own way to Welcome Spring. Please be sure to let me know if you have any questions or concerns about our church and school.

Cheri

Blessings,
Cheri

The Gift of Joy

*Submitted by Larry Whitney
Pastoral Assistant*

When he had said this, he showed them his hands and his side. Then the disciples were glad when they saw the Lord. (John 20:20)

How could anyone be glad while looking at someone who has been mortally wounded? Jesus had been wounded in the hands, feet and side. He was showing these wounds to his disciples, but what was their reaction? Sorrow or sympathy? No. They were glad at seeing their wounded Lord; not because he was wounded, rather because he had risen from the grave.

The wounds of our risen Savior are the marks of victory. They are visible proof that Jesus Christ is true God and true Man, David's Son and David's Lord. When we look upon the wounds of Jesus, we see the wonderful message of our salvation. Eternal God became mortal man, in order to humble himself under his own law. After a life of perfect righteousness, the Lord of all creation gave his life in death, to satisfy the curse of the law upon the sins of all mankind. Because he made full payment for all our sins, the Lord is able to give us forgiveness and salvation.

If we were looking upon the wounds of a dead man lying in a grave, we would have reason to sorrow. But this is Jesus himself showing us his wounds – Jesus, who once was dead but now lives. We have reason to be overjoyed. Every victory celebration is meant to be a joyous occasion. And the gift of joy, which the Lord gave to his disciples, lives on for all eternity. The message of Christ's death and resurrection brought joy to thousands of repentant hearts on the first Pentecost. And it continues to bring joy to countless thousands of sinners all over the world, who have come to know Jesus as their Savior.

The gift of joy in Christ is a wonderful blessing from the Lord. In our daily lives, when frustrations and afflictions bring frowns to our faces, there can still be joy in our hearts. For our Lord is faithful and powerful and promises to deliver us from all evil. And when we Christians face death, whether it is our own, or that of a loved one, in the midst of sorrow we can know the joy of a personal victory in Christ. For as the Lord rose and lives again, so also in death we live and will rise again.

Only with such joy in his heart could the Apostle Paul have written, "Yes, and I will continue to rejoice . . . For to me, to live is Christ and to die is gain."

○ Lord, fill our hearts with joy in Christ, now and forevermore. Amen.

School and Preschool Happenings

Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

One of the joys of working with God's precious children is getting to hear THE SIMPLE TRUTHS. Our preschool students spent some time during a chapel message observing a rose and its beauty. I asked our little friends when we might give a rose to someone. Expecting to hear responses such as, "Mother's Day, Valentine's Day, or Birthdays," I was caught a bit off guard. Without skipping a beat, the first response I heard was, "When we get into trouble."

Throughout the season of Lent, we have heard little voices from our K-8th grade students, confidently and enthusiastically call out answers to Bible related questions asked during the Children's Message at the Midweek services. Praise God for these children, as the Holy Spirit continues to grow them in their faith and knowledge.

This Lenten and Easter season, we are reminded of the SIMPLE TRUTH of what Christ did for us. The SIMPLE TRUTH that he died on the Cross and rose again on the third day, that we might all be washed clean of our sin and join Him in paradise.

The 2017-2018 school year is coming to an end rather quickly. In preparations for the upcoming school year, we are continuing to give tours and take in new enrollment applications. If you know of anyone that might be interested, they can contact the office to set up a tour or to gather more information.

We are also taking applications for possible preschool teachers. If you know of someone that might be interested, they can drop their information off at the front office.

Upon this Rock,
Katie Groves, Pre School Director
Kyle Erickson, Principal
